Certified Protection: VB100

TeamViewer Endpoint Protection has received the VB100 award several years in a row. The magazine Virus Bulletin only awards this certification of reliability to anti-malware solutions that can provide 100% recognition of certain types of malicious software. These are defined as all malware classified as "in the wild" by the WildList Organization. In addition, the VB100 certification requires that no false-positives ever be reported.
